

Why Become a Member of the Indiana Ground Water Association?

All aspects of various industries are highly competitive today. If you want to grow your business and elevate your level of professionalism, you can't afford not to belong to an industry trade organization. The IGWA is yours! Take the time to learn more about your industry. Join us now! Highlights of membership in the IGWA are:

- Statewide Industry Representation The IGWA is made up of ground water professionals located throughout Indiana representing the interests of the industry with statewide concerns, local concerns and public relations.
- National Representation - IGWA is an affiliate state member of the National Ground Water Association. NGWA represents the interests of affiliate states throughout the U.S. through lobbying efforts in Washington, D.C. Delegates from Indiana attend the annual NGWA National Convention & Expo.
- Networking Opportunities - IGWA encourages interaction with people in the ground water industry through seminars, conventions and drilling demonstrations. The IGWA also provides social opportunities, too.
- Information, Education and Updates - IGWA provides yearly opportunities for educational. This is done through yearly seminars, updates on rules and regulations. An annual drilling demonstration is also provided to drillers with new equipment and techniques in the industry.
- Lobbying Efforts - The IGWA provides opportunities for its members to express their support or non-support of issues affecting their industry by contacting state and/or national representatives courtesy of the Association.
- Quarterly Newsletters - to keep members informed about current issues in the ground water industry.
- Annual Membership Directory – at your fingertips listing of all IGWA members.
- Annual Convention – usually held in February throughout the state - informative seminars, election of officers, general membership meeting and annual banquet.
- Convention & Exhibition - every other year, in conjunction with the Annual Convention, manufacturers and suppliers exhibit the latest products or services in the ground water industry.
- Demonstrations – typically held in the fall months, a drilling demonstration takes place to demonstrate new products and techniques in the ground water industry. The well and all products needed are donated by member suppliers and manufacturers.
- Social Events - various times of the year, social events may be planned, such as picnics, Victory Field baseball, Hoosier Park racing, etc. This is a great opportunity to network with people in the ground water industry.
- One Voice - when issues arise that will affect the industry, the association represents and speaks out on behalf of the drillers in the state of Indiana.
- Insurance - The IGWA has a great relationship with an insurance provider who carries all lines necessary to operate a business. Check it out with the IGWA office.
